Fill-in-the-Blank Sentences

Another common format involves filling in missing words in Spanish sentences. This type of exercise challenges users to recall specific vocabulary or verb conjugations and place them correctly within a sentence structure.

Short Answer Questions

Duolingo also includes short answer prompts where learners must write brief responses in Spanish. These questions may ask for descriptions, explanations, or personal information, encouraging spontaneous written expression.

Constructing Original Sentences

At more advanced levels, users may be prompted to create their own sentences using given vocabulary or grammar points. This task fosters creativity and deeper understanding of sentence construction and syntax in Spanish.
